Finally we arrive home (to similar comments from our respective better halves) with Peter still saying, "That was much better than being at Balclutha. I bet its going to be rough down there."... P.S. I think I'll be at Balclutha next year.

Dear Mummy and Daddy,

Left on the van for Christchurch at 5.30 p.m. No one knew how to close the back door and Lindsay left the window down, so all the people in the back got really bad colds. He had trouble finding gears too, so most of us ended up with whiplash. Fortunately, Fiona's cobbler is a medic with St Johns (actually, he thinks he's a doctor, cos he kept playing doctors and nurses with Fiona all the time.)
